About Us

Since 1997, We Teach You has been one of the UK's foremost authors of innovative, interactive computer based training. We have built an enviable reputation by providing excellent products coupled with excellent service.

As Managers, everyone understands the benefits of training. In reality however it is difficult to release staff with the pressures of deadlines and targets.

A good classroom course can be excellent as it allows individualisation, but taking staff away from their roles for a day long session is both expensive and inconvenient, especially when you consider the hidden costs such as replacement staff, travelling and accommodation.

At We Teach You we understand the issues surrounding training. Our staff are occupational experts and therefore perfectly positioned to advise and assist you – we understand your position.

Whether you are interested in NVQ's, computer based learning or venue based training, we are here to help. With We Teach You as your training partner, Training Officers valuable time can now be used for higher level training and mentoring rather than the provision of basic or legislative training.

We Teach You specialise in: -

- Sourcing funding for training
- Providing work based National Vocational Qualifications (NVQ's)
- Providing RIPH accredited online training
- Providing CIEH and BRC accredited venue based training
- Online support and training for individuals who do not have English as their first language
- Compliance and IT online training and mentoring
